After viewing the movie, I started juicing but needed a good recipe book and this one is great. The pages are laminated which make it easy to clean and use and all the juice are categorized by color and ingredients.

Great recipes with lots of detail about what vegetables and fruits are best for different ailments and how to juice them along with substitutions. Love it, use it 3-5 times a week

There are a lot of juice recipes in this book. The book is constructed in a notepad style which can sit on top of a table or countertop and be easily paged through. The recipes are divided into the following categories: Green, Yellow, Orange, Red, and Purple. Basically, the fruits and vegetables are categorized into different color groups and you use this system in conjunction with his website to lose weight. His website is a big resource and he has a lot of free stuff on there to help you reboot your lifestyle. The website even has nutritional plans and guides online to help you get started. You just have to pick the one that fits your lifestyle and goals. They even provide a shopping list and time schedule on the website. I also like how the book just has recipes right on each page. It is simple and to the point. No need to read through endless prose or paragraphs of history that you see in other books. You can also supplement this book with free juice recipes online. Just check out the Reboot website and do a simple Google search. If you just need some simple juice recipes without the fluff, then this book is for you.

Top notch! Changed the way I look at food. I have cravings for green veggies now instead of fast food. Thanks Joe!

Lots of veggies and items to juice that I didn't know about. I wish there were a way to cross reference in the back via the veggie I have for example, if I look it up it has pages listed where I can go to as a cross reference to use to make a juice out of that veggie that I have. As a suggestion it might make it "easier" to want to do. Thank you. Karen Price

Periodically, one or more members of my family will go on a juicing or smoothie binge. Normally I juice and drink smoothies regularly and I use whatever we have in the house. However, when a family member wants to get healthy on his/her own, I get excited. Earlier this year, my least healthy child, my 16 year old daughter decided she wanted to try to clean up her diet a bit and do a short juice fast. We found plenty of recipes and support on the Reboot with Joe website, but I wanted to make sure she had whatever she needed for success so I purchased a couple of Joe Cross books including the "101 Juice Recipes" published September 16, 2013. I didn't expect it to be that useful since Joe Cross publishes so many of his recipes online, but this cardboard stock book loaded with beautiful pictures amazed me with its usefulness! Just about all of the 101 Juice Recipes were brand new to us and most of them used produce we could easily source even in southern Alabama. Recipes are organized by color and provide information about which ones are useful for fasting, for energizing during workouts, for avoiding if you have diabetes, etc. The provided recipes gave me, an extremely confident and adventurous cook anyway, the confidence to try juicing foods I never would have considered previously. In fact, so many of my current favorite juices came directly out of or were inspired by this book! My absolute favorite contains fennel, kale, celery, and orange and I never would have tried this combination on my own! I am extremely glad I purchased this recipe book and I constantly recommend it to friends who decide to start juicing.

I love Joe Cross. Juicing changed my life. I lost 36 pounds in 3 months. I juiced everyday, but did eat, salads, veggies, and healthy organic foods. This juice book and Joe Cross's documentary had really changed my life. I am 49 years old. I went to the doctor in October 2015 I had all my blood work completed. I was Pre-diabetic, low potassium, low calcium, had no energy, couldn't focus, had overall malaise. The summer of 2015 was miserable, I hated going anywhere and even though I tried to diet and eat healthy, my body would not give a pound. It was like my metabolism just plopped on the couch and refused to budge. I was so depressed and tired. Then I watched the documentary with Joe Cross, Fat,Sick, and nearly dead while I was sitting on the couch with my slow metabolism lol.The next week. I bought the juicer the next month off , bought my veggies and tried out a few creations on my own. Gross! One I called War Water because it was khaki green. LOL. So I looked to Joe and I bought this book and started following the recipes and WOW, they actually tasted great and not one was khaki green. :) Now I'm just living and juicing. I still juice at least one of my meals three times a week and follow a Vegetarian and mostly organic diet. I still have more weight to go, so I'll probably pick up my pace a little.The thing is these recipes are delicious, filling and so good for you! The energy from juicing is unreal and went from nearly falling asleep at my boring job, to taking ownership of it and getting noticed for it, actually got a raise!Now I'm saying that juicing and Joe is going to lead to a raise, but when you are awake and feeling amazing, I think it attracts all the right stuff into your life.
